Yueh Tung near the Eaton Centre is a long-time favourite, with a full Chinese menu.

The menu lists 254 dishes, including egg rolls, soups, BBQ meats, sweet and sour, meat dishes with veggies, tofu combos, seafood, sizzling dishes, noodles, and chow mein. They have all the standards, including many hot and spicy dishes. Portions are large and food is freshly prepared to order by an experienced and expert kitchen. Very affordable hot and sour soup is a delightful medley of taste and texture. House specialties include chow mein, spicy chili chicken, and spicy, sizzling, ginger-laced Manchurian chicken. Veggies are crisp and sauces are well composed and generous. Seasonal lobster and crab specialties are a special treat and are very popular. Curry-laced Singapore noodles are also a good choice. A wide selection of interesting combination dinners offers great food and great value. Lunch is mobbed and is an outstanding value ($4.95-$5.50) with quick and efficient service. Refreshing orange slices finish things off very well.

Yueh Tung has been in this area (3 locations within a block) since 1979, and in its present large and simply decorated space since 1999. Michael Liu took over in 1987. He's very hands-on and he keeps old menu favourites but makes innovations too. They have about 100 seats and can get very busy, but it's all well organized and staff are efficient and friendly. Reservations are for evenings only, and it's recommended. Yueh Tung is an old Toronto favourite for Chinese food, and they keep a loyal clientele by providing a diverse selection of quality food at great prices.
